First Quarter – January 2014

The Little Base That ~~can~~ Does

To perpetuate the memory of our shipmates who gave their lives in the pursuit of their duties while serving their country. That their dedication, deeds and supreme sacrifice be a constant source of motivation toward greater accomplishments.
Pledge loyalty and patriotism to the United States of America and its Constitution.

Base Commander

Kenn McDermott

I'm very pleased to be able to contribute to our very FIRST USS Virginia Base Deep Water Gazette newsletter - and I want to start my column by thanking John (JohnnyMos) Mosticone for volunteering to be our first Newsletter Editor. John was also the winner of our contest to come up with a name for the new newsletter, which garnered him the grand prize we had offered - a free buffet at Anna's! This will be a quarterly publication beginning in January, 2014 with an Adobe PDF version being e-mailed to all members along with a posting to our web site and hard copy mailings to those who don't have Internet access. Thanks John!

I also want to begin this New Year by thanking all of you. This Base can only be as successful as the collective effort put forth by its members - and the "Little Base That ~~can~~ Does" has managed to plug along year after year because of your support. Since taking the helm from Commander Rob McNamara after his heart attack back in 2007 (I believe I finished Rob's term in 2007 and I know I was sworn in for a full term in January 2008) it has been my privilege and honor to serve as your Base Commander these past six years - and I thank you for reelecting me to serve what I plan will be my seventh and last term in 2014.

I also want to thank those members who have stepped forward to serve as officers with me over the years, particularly two who have chosen to finally take a break this year - Bill Wellner and Mickey Martin. Bill served as our Base Secretary since it was chartered as an official division of USSVI back on July 25th, 2002 - and Mickey stepped up to take my place as Vice Commander back in 2007 - thanks guys! Another round of thanks go out to our Treasurer, Jim Lencalis; our COB (and soon to be Vice Commander) Pete Fortier; our incoming Secretary, Bill Anderson; our Storekeeper, Bob Kutzenberger; the chair of our Nominating Committee, Thurman Register; and the chair of our Ways & Means Committee, (the 50/50 guy) John Lamsens. I thank all of you! While I'm on the subject of officers - I feel the Base should have a Chief of the Boat and since Pete offered to fill Mickey's slot as Vice Commander his position of COB is now unfilled. We could also use a Chaplain, as well as several other positions that have never been filled as far as I can tell. If you are interested in serving in either of these positions - or in some other way - please let me know.

This is also a good opportunity to note the passing of an era in that Bill & Carol Wellner, having hosted the past ten out of ten annual Sub Vet picnics at their lovely home in Amelia, will take a well-deserved respite from this event. Thanks Bill & Carol - we appreciate all that you have done! The annual picnic has been a highlight every year for our Base - and this is as good a time as any to ask for volunteers to host this event and/or suggest an alternative (like meeting in a park somewhere or having the affair catered, etc.). We can discuss this at our meetings - but I feel that continuing our tradition of a fall picnic would be preferable to discontinuing it.

I really like our new monthly meeting venue, Anna's Restaurant & Pizzeria, on Hull Street in Midlothian. The room is large and the buffet has been well received. The unofficial consensus is that the pizza and spaghetti are winners and so we're going to stay with those - plus the tossed salad and drinks - as our "standard" - at least for a while - with lasagna instead of the spaghetti as an alternate every other month. Just think of every second Thursday as Italian night with pizza, spaghetti (or Lasagna) and the camaraderie you can only get with fellow submariners who speak the language and share similar experiences. If you haven't attended a meeting yet, or for some time, please join us at Anna's - where "The Undersea Warrior Elite Meet & Eat".

The only order of business I can think of as I write this is the upcoming USSVI SE Regional Conference 2014 in Cary NC April 7-11 (Monday through Friday). I had forwarded the preliminary info on this conference in my November 10th e-mail to all members and mentioned that Della and I plan on attending. I attended one of these smaller conferences back in May of 2009 when it was held in Mooresville, NC and we thoroughly enjoyed it. The conflict for our Base with this particular event is that it occurs during the week of our second Thursday meeting on April 10th and since I'll be attending the conference Pete Fortier has agreed to run our meeting on April 10th - THANKS PETE!

I had forwarded an update on this conference to all members via e-mail on January 14th with an updated agenda and registration form. That information/form is now on our web site in the 1MC section, is shown as a link in this newsletter and is also attached as the last page to this newsletter. (When in doubt, over route).

In closing let me wish everyone a very happy, healthy and blessed New Year. I look forward to seeing as many of you as possible at our 2014 monthly meetings at Anna's - and please let me know if there is anything I can do to help you with anything throughout the year. God bless - Greenboard/Straightboard and all the best!

LT, USN (Ret)

District Commander Steve Bell

I am really happy to see the USS Virginia Base Deep Water Gazette get started. This makes it 50% of the bases within our District have a newsletter. I feel it is really a good way to keep our shipmates connected, especially those that for whatever reason cannot make your meeting.

Even though a quarterly newsletter, there is still a lot of work that goes into making a newsletter. It takes more than just the editor too. Each member can provide assistance to the editor. If he asks for articles, help him out. If he wants jokes, send him some (he can always stockpile them if necessary). I am sure that as time goes on, the newsletter will expand and he will need more from the membership. So please help him out as he asks for it.

I now input an article for three newsletters plus my required District Commander quarterly newsletter. So I am sure that I repeat myself (seems to me that I do) and you may read things from me more than once.

Our National Newsletter has a new editor (there are actually two of them, one editor and one that will provide him a large amount of assistance). I am sure he, like you, will have some learning curves with the new job. So let's give him the benefit of the doubt on the first couple of issues. I am sure he will get things turned around there. He also has deadline dates when issues are to be out and I suspect he will meet them.

This year (2014) is a National Election year. Please read the biographies of each person running for a National office and vote your heart. The same goes for the amendments that will be on the ballot. As I write this, I have no idea what might be there regarding amendments. However, the National Board of Directors will have a mid-term meeting in March and coming out of that I will know what they are and will be putting the information out to all.

Again, I want to congratulate your base on your newsletter. I have hopes of attending a meeting of yours in the very near future (depending on how schedules work out). I look forward to seeing as many of you as possible and answering any of your questions.

May God bless each of you and your families and may God bless the United States of America.

Steve

RAO BULLETIN 15 January 2014

Should Congress Reverse Pension Cut?

One of the best things Ronald Reagan did as president was to revamp federal pensions. Reagan foresaw the problems that unaffordable public benefits would cause over time — the same problems now afflicting many cities and states — and was determined to act. As a result, most federal workers hired after 1986 look forward to a very modest pension, one that is significantly reduced for people leaving before age 62. But one big group was largely untouched by Reagan's overhaul: members of the military. They are still on a plan so generous that it allows them to retire in their late 30s or early 40s and collect a pension, with cost-of-living increases, for the rest of their lives. This is accompanied by lifetime health coverage whose premium, $460 per year for a family policy, has not risen since 1995 even as costs for everyone else have skyrocketed. In last month's bipartisan budget deal, Congress made some defensible trims in military pensions, prompting a howl of complaints from veterans groups. They protest too much. Way too much. The military pension system is not only extremely generous, it is also counterproductive. It drains defense money from today's troops and weapons. And while the system encourages some people to consider the military who otherwise might not, it also encourages them to leave early, taking their first-rate training to go double-dip by moving into a civilian government job. In any case, they can collect pensions — intended as old-age protection — in the prime of their working lives. The deal, crafted by House Budget Committee Chairman Paul Ryan (R-WI) and Senate Budget Committee Chairwoman Patty Murray (D-WA) would not alter those basics. After 20 years of service, regardless of age, a military retiree can expect a pension equal to 50% of final pay, with an additional 2.5 percentage points for each year of service beyond 20. 40% of service members have never seen a combat zone.

The "cuts" come in the form of a reduction in cost-of-living adjustments, or COLAs, by 1 percentage point each year until age 62. At 62, the full COLA would come back, and pensions would shoot up to where they would have been had the full COLA been in effect from the start. For example, a first sergeant retiring now at 40 with 20 years of service would collect a pension of $24,828. By the time he or she reached 61, it would have risen to $39,507, and now would rise to $32,464. The following year, it would be $40,496 under both formulations, and would receive the full COLA thereafter. This approach would save taxpayer money and help reach budget targets. It also would discourage people from leaving early after the government has invested so much in them. The change would also make military pensions less wildly out of line with most Americans' experience. Private-sector pensions, to the extent that they exist at all, are routinely scaled back or frozen in ways much more dramatic than these changes. Certainly, protecting veterans impaired by their service is a different sort of issue. But the current system rewards all equally, including the 40% of service members who have never seen a combat zone. If Congress doesn't have the fortitude to stand by even this small tweak in military pensions, it doesn't bode well for the far bigger, tougher budget decisions that loom ahead. [Source: USA Today | Editorial | 1 Jan 2014 ++]

Note: Base Commander Kenn McDermott disagrees with the premise of this USA Today article - but decided to leave it in so members could see the "other side" of this argument.
